PRIVACY POLICY

PRIVACY POLICY

Macatlas Freight values your privacy, and has created this privacy statement with you in mind - to be informative and transparent while highlighting our firm adherence to privacy laws governing the collection, use, maintenance and distribution of private information. For more information on Macatlas Freight's privacy policy, please refer to our terms of trade.

COLLECTION & USE

Macatlas Freight collects your personal information when necessary to supply services, functions or activities, for the purposes outlined at the time of collection. Provision is entirely voluntary, gathered by fair and lawful means, with the knowledge and strict consent of individuals in order to facilitate services subject to Macatlas Freight's terms of trade agreement.

Macatlas Freight does not trade, sell or rent your personal information to third-parties. Macatlas Freight does not collect your private information in a secretive or underhand way.

EMAILS

Macatlas Freight may periodically send customers emails containing industry news, company announcements, shipping schedules, and other notifications. Individuals can opt-out of this service at their discretion by unsubscribing.

THIRD PARTIES

We provide personal information to third-party partners, vendors, affiliates and law enforcement authorities where appropriate and necessary to facilitate services, activities and legal obligations or requests. As outlined in our terms of trade, this information may be used for the purpose of conducting a credit check, local customs investigation, freight deliveries by third-party agents, etc.

SECURITY

Macatlas Freight adopts fair and reasonable measures, in accordance with industry standards and methods, to protect personal information from unauthorised parties. Access to such data by Macatlas Freight employees is restricted, stored in a secure location behind our 'firewall'.

Users of the site who have registered to access Macatlas Freight's online booking system are responsible for the security of their login credentials, including username and password.

COOKIES

Like most websites, we use 'cookies' for authentication purposes and other non-personal tracking technology. A 'cookie' is a small text file stored on the user's hard drive, not the website, which collects data while visiting a webpage and is commonly used to aid site navigation. Please refer to your web browser's help files for details on how to manage, activate and disable cookies.

CONSENT

Through use of this website, you consent to this privacy policy. Macatlas Freight reserves the right to change this policy at our discretion and at any time, with amendments published on this page, effective immediately. We recommend site visitors periodically return to this privacy statement for updates.
